

Physical activity has been shown to reduce stress and boost mood. Studies show that for some people, regular physical exercise can be as effective as antidepressants in reducing symptoms of depression. Get active with a friend or your favorite music for added benefits!

DR. DONNA'S TIP OF THE WEEK