Amir Balaban

of the Society for the Protection of Nature in Israel

Shabbat, November 14 | Approximately 11:15 AM | Shaare Shalom

Amir Balaban, one of Israel's leading environmental experts and Director of Urban Nature for the Society for the Protection of Nature in Israel (SPNI). For decades, Amir has dedicated his work to protecting Israel's nature and deepening the connection between people and the land. He is the co-founder of the Nili and David Jerusalem Bird Observatory and a well-known nature personality on Israeli television.

Amir will share his firsthand perspective on Israel's extraordinary natural heritage and SPNI's work to protect the landscapes and wildlife that make the Land of Israel so special.

Please join us for this meaningful Shabbat opportunity to hear from Amir and celebrate our enduring connection to the Land of Israel. For more information, please contact Albert Bassal.
