Marc Provisor is an Israeli artist and warrior. He served in the IDF and has spent most of his career as a counter-terrorism expert, where he has led the first responder team in the Shiloh block in Judea/Samaria, as well as serving in Gaza and the North. As a professionally trained artist, his works depict the beauty of landscapes, figures, and nature, as well as the intersection of beauty with the chaos of terror. His work has been exhibited in Israel, Europe, and the US, most recently at the John F. Kennedy Center art exhibit related to October 7.
